Appeal from the United States
District Court for the District of Minnesota.
[UNPUBLISHED]

Submitted: February 11, 2003

Filed: April 8, 2003

Before WOLLMAN, RICHARD S. ARNOLD, and MELLOY, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM.

Sergio Medina-Olvera (Medina) pleaded guilty to possession with the intent to distribute over 500 grams of cocaine in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 841(a)(1) and (b)(1)(B) and was sentenced to ninety months' imprisonment.¹ In entering his plea, Medina reserved his right to appeal the denial of his motion to suppress evidence that was seized from his residence and vehicle pursuant to a search warrant. After reviewing the record and the parties' arguments, we are satisfied that the information included in the warrant application and affidavit was sufficient to support a finding of probable cause for the issuance of the warrant. Because we believe that an extended recitation of the facts and the applicable legal principles would have no precedential value in this fact-intensive case, we affirm without any further discussion. See 8th Cir. R. 47B.
